1. INTRODUCTION

Royal Decree-Law 13/2010, of December 3, has introduced an important modernization process, dividing the airport and air navigation management functions that in Spain had been performed by the Entidad Pública Empresarial Aena, with the objective of improving the efficiency and effectiveness of the Spanish airport system.

Aena Aeropuertos is created within this modernization process and it shall be responsible for the management of the airports which until now had been managed by Entidad Pública Empresarial Aena.

The Council of Ministers on June 3, 2011 approved an agreement which authorizes the asset transfer from Aena to Aena Aeropuertos and a rise in the capital stock of the new company. These measures are necessary for Aena Aeropuertos to start functioning effectively, from June 8, 2011.

Aena Aeropuertos shall carry out all the duties and obligations developed by Entidad Pública Empresarial Aena until June 7, 2011 as regards management and operation of airport services, and any others that national or international law gives to the airport operator, in relation to the network integrated by airports and heliports managed by Aena.

From July 5, 2014, Aena Aeropuertos S.A changes its name into Aena SME, S.A. The airports and heliports that it manages are the following:

Adolfo Suarez Madrid-Barajas and Josep Tarradellas Barcelona-El Prat.

Alicante Elche, Gran Canaria, Tenerife Sur, Málaga-Costa del Sol and Palma de Mallorca.

Bilbao, Fuerteventura, Girona, Ibiza, César Manrique-Lanzarote, Menorca, Santiago, Sevilla, Tenerife Norte and Valencia.

Almería, Asturias, Coruña, Granada-Jaén, Jerez, La Palma, Reus, Seve Ballesteros, Santander, Vigo and Zaragoza.

Albacete, Algeciras, Badajoz, Burgos, Ceuta, Córdoba, Madrid Cuatro Vientos, Hierro, Huesca, La Gomera, León, Logroño, Melilla, Sabadell, Salamanca, San Sebastián, Son Bonet, Pamplona, Vitoria and Valladolid.

1.1. PROCEDURE TO OPERATE

Flights landing, taking-off or flying over the Spanish territory shall be subject to the Spanish law as regards civil aviation and to the public security, police and penal regulations in force in Spain.

Information about requirements and authorizations needed to operate in Spain is available on the AIS website (<https://www.enaire.es/services/ais>).

In order to optimize the use of the capacities available in airports under the Spanish sovereignty, it is needed to coordinate arrival and departure hours of every commercial flight to avoid congestions and delays. Therefore, every flight operating in Adolfo Suarez Madrid Barajas and commercial flights operating in other Aena airports shall coordinate their service times through:

Asociación Española para la Coordinación y Facilitación de Franjas Horarias (AECFA)

Edificio de Servicios Generales
Avda. Central, 1 – Oficce 422 4th Floor.
Centro de Carga Aérea. Aeropuerto de Adolfo Suárez Madrid Barajas

Tf: +34-913 937 750
Fax: +34-913 937 751
E-mail: slot.coord.admin@aecfa.es
www.slotcoordination.es

In order to operate at Spanish airports, it will be necessary to complete the form: “Formulario Estadístico de Tránsito Aéreo” both at arrival and departure.

AIRPORT SERVICE TIMETABLE:

Service times of Spanish airports are duly published and updated in de AD card of each airport of AIP Spain.

1.2. REVENUE MANAGEMENT PROCEDURE FOR AIRPORT CHARGES DETERMINED BY THE MTOW

Definition of Maximum Take-Off Weight

Article 72.3 of Law 21/2003 defines the Maximum Take-Off Weight (MTOW) as the maximum certified take-off weight of the aircraft, expressed in metric tonnes, as appearing on the airworthiness certificate. In the event the weight is not known, the weight of the heaviest known aircraft of the same type will be used.

Information to be provided regarding the MTOW of aircraft

In order to correctly calculate the airport charges, aircraft operators must send the documentation proving the MTOW of the aircraft to the following address: tablas.corporativas.flotas@aena.es

Such notification should be made at the time of the change in the characteristics of the aircraft, or at the issuance of the certificate in the case of an aircraft operating for the first time.

To demonstrate the validity of the MTOW or its changes, a copy of the airworthiness certificate or the flight manual of the aircraft may be submitted, and failing that, a copy of the official noise certificate in accordance with the provisions of Annex 16 to the Convention on International Civil Aviation, or document of similar characteristics and validity issued by the State of registration of the aircraft.

If the relevant MTOW data has not been provided, the highest known weight for the ICAO category of the aircraft will be charged. For this purpose, the reference will be the EASA database.

Information to be provide regarding aircraft noise

Prior to the flight departure, air carriers shall submit a copy of the official noise certificate in accordance with the provisions of Annex 16 to the Convention on International Civil Aviation, or a document of similar characteristics and validity issued by the State of registration of the aircraft.

For the purposes of acoustic classification, those aircraft whose operators do not provide a noise certificate will be consider within the same category as an aircraft of the same manufacturer, model, type and number of engines for which a certificate is available until the corresponding certificate is accredited.

1.3. GOVERNING LAWS

Law 18/2014 of 15 October, provides the regulatory framework for basic airport services.

This Law observes the principle of legal reservation regarding the regulation of airport revenues, Law 21/2003, amended by Law 1/2011 of 4 March.

Definition

It includes supplies, services, materials and products directly or indirectly provided by the airport, and the use of the airport property in the facilities and equipment needed to provide them.

Rates

a) Electricity supply

The amount to be invoiced will be the amount corresponding to the sum of two concepts:

- Consumption term: variable amount corresponding to the electrical energy consumption made.
- Power term: monthly amount resulting from applying the fixed unit price for the use of the airport's electrical infrastructure to the consumption made.

The price of the consumption term will be calculated by dividing the amount of the periodic invoice from the service supplier by the number of units consumed throughout the airport network. The amount to be invoiced for this term will be determined by multiplying this value for the consumption made in the space.

The unit price of the power term will be calculated annually by dividing the costs associated with this service by the consumption in the spaces occupied by third parties throughout the airport network and taking into account whether the electricity supply of the space is in Low or High Voltage¹. The amount to be invoiced for this term will be determined by multiplying this value for the consumption made in the space.

The values for 2025 are as follows:

Power term Low voltage price (€/kWh)	Power term High voltage price (€/kWh)
0,1029	0,0515

Electric vehicle chargers installed by Aena are excluded from these rates.

- Rest of supplies measured by meter the rate unit will be calculated dividing the amount of the periodic invoice from the service supplier by the number of units consumed, applying an increase of 12.5% for the use of the airport property.
- Rest of the supplies provided by the airport, the rate unit will be calculated dividing the total amount of the service cost by the square meters of the airport surface affected by such service, applying an increase of 12.5% for the use of the airport property.

¹ Low Voltage refers to a supply of 220-230 V. Above this High Voltage will be considered

- Services, materials and products provided by the airport, they will be invoiced for the real amount of their cost, increasing a 12.5% for the use of airport property.

- Service of management of urban solid waste: Natural or legal persons who generate solid waste due to the development of their activity at the airport, and whose waste is managed in some way by the Airport services, are required to pay for this service.

1) Airports with Active Transfer Station, It includes the collection and transport to the transfer station, storage, separation in Sorting Plant and later transport to final operators of the waste for their recovery or energetic use. The price for this service will be as indicated:

a) Adolfo Suárez Madrid-Barajas, Alicante-Elche Miguel Hernández, and Tenerife South airports, the price of this service will consist of two amounts:

- Basic rate due to the space occupied, applicable to all renting companies, depending on the space contracted at the airport:
0,1380€ x m² rented per month.
- Additional rate, applicable to the receivers of the service that generate urban solid waste over 20 Tm annually, on a percentage of separation basis.

Percentage of waste segregation	€ per ton
0 – 5 %	38,08 €
>5 – 10 %	25,39 €
>10 – 15 %	19,05 €
>15 – 20 %	12,69 €
>20 %	6,35 €

b) Palma de Mallorca Airport: a distinction will be made between companies that directly use the Transfer Plant (Tenant Type 1) and those that use the airport's clean points (Tenant Type 2):

- Type 1: the amount to be invoiced monthly will be calculated on the basis of the tons produced by each company, according to the price €327,84/Tn/month.
- Type 2. the amount to be invoiced will be calculated based on the m² rented by each company, according to the price:
1,15€/m²/month, associated with the availability of the clean points by the airport.

2) Rest of the airports will be invoiced for the actual amount of the cost of waste management, increased by 12.5% for the use of the airport premises.

Seasons are defined in article 72.16¹ of Law 21/2003 of 7th July on Air Safety and they are considered independently.

The incentive is for contributing to the growth in the number of passengers on routes operated from airports in the network with less than 3 million passengers annually in 2023 (Annex I), applicable in the summer and winter seasons of 2024, 2025, and 2026.

The incentive will be calculated as an amount equivalent to 100% of the average departure passenger charge (with two decimal figures) of the airline per route. The incentives shall apply exclusively to the number of additional departure passengers on the route concerned compared to the 2023 equivalent season that the airline carried at each airport of the Aena S.M.E., S.A 's network and Murcia Region International Airport (AIRM).

The incentive will be proportional to the contribution to the growth generated in that route by each of the airlines operating it.

In all the above, the number of passengers considered for the incentive of each airline will have the cap on the number of passengers that the airline has grown at the airport. In this case, their distribution by route will be proportional to the contribution of the airline to the growth of each route.

Additionally, for each airline, the number of passengers considered at route level will not be higher than its growth in the network of Aena S.M.E., S.A and AIRM. In this case, the distribution per route will be proportional to the passengers referred to in the previous paragraph.

To calculate the incentive, the number of passengers eligible for the incentive shall be rounded to the nearest whole number.

For the purpose of this incentive, a route is defined as the set of commercial¹ passenger air transport operations, departing from an Aena, S.M.E., S.A airport and destined to another airport. It will be considered as the same route to the same destination, the one that even when operated to different airports, these are part of the same catchment area (Annex II).

Furthermore, airlines must request the incentive through the incentive application form, available on the Aena website, at the beginning of each season and before the following months end:

- October 2024 for the summer season 2024 (from April 2024 to October 2024)
 - October 2025 for the summer season 2025 (from April 2025 to October 2025)
 - October 2026 for the summer season 2026 (from April 2026 to October 2026)
 - March 2025 for the winter season 2024 (from November 2024 to March 2025)
 - March 2026 for the winter season 2025 (from November 2025 to March 2026)
 - March 2027 for the winter season 2026 (from November 2026 to March 2027)
- <<https://www.aena.es/en/airlines/incentives-and-marketing-support/incentives.html>>

To be considered an operated route for the season the route to a specific destination must exceed 1000 departing commercial passengers in the winter season and 1500 in the summer season.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. will communicate whether the airline is eligible for the incentive in December for the summer seasons and in May of the following year for the winter seasons.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. shall compensate the corresponding amount with any amounts owed by the beneficiaries. If it is not possible in whole or in part, it will be paid in cash.

To benefit from the incentive, the Financial Directorate must issue a favourable report based on the overall situation of the company's account with Aena, its risk coverage, and the regular compliance with its payment system.

The airline will not be entitled to the incentive if, with the intention of benefiting from it or influencing its amount, the company had been the recipient of the assignment or transfer of operations between itself and companies within the same group or with other companies with which it may share its program or align strategies.

If the situations described above arise as a result of purely operational aspects of the activity of companies within the same group that may share their program, or mergers, acquisitions, or changes in ownership of airlines that could affect the outcome of this incentive, Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to reduce the amount corresponding to the incentive. This will be made in proportion to the impact of the activity transfer carried out or to treat such companies as a single airline.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to refuse to apply the incentive if during the revision of the data and documents provided by companies that have applied to it, it emerges that the application or any information or documentation provided is affected by errors, misleading information, omissions, or any type of inaccuracy.

IV. Commercial Incentive for contribution to passenger growth on routes operated from airports with less than 3 million annual passengers 2024-2025-2026. Update for airports which have not recovered 2019 passenger traffic levels in 2025 – 2026.

Airlines shall be entitled to the incentives explained under this heading. The incentive is applicable in the Summer and Winter seasons of 2024, 2025 and 2026 and the updated incentive for airports that have not recovered 2019 passenger traffic levels is applicable in the Summer and Winter seasons of 2025 and 2026. Seasons are defined in article 72.161 of Law 21/2003 of 7th July on Air Safety and they are considered independently.

The aim of the incentive is to contribute to the growth in the number of passengers on routes operated from airports in the network with less than 3 million passengers annually in 2023 (Annex I), applicable in the summer and winter seasons of 2024, 2025, and 2026.

The incentive is calculated as an amount equivalent to 100% of the average departure passenger charge (with two decimal figures) of the airline per route. The incentives apply exclusively to the number of additional departure passengers on the route concerned compared to the 2023 equivalent season that the airline carried at each airport of the Aena S.M.E., S.A's network and Murcia Region International Airport (AIRM).

The incentive is proportional to the contribution to the growth generated in that route by each of the airlines operating it.

In all the above, the number of passengers considered for the incentive of each airline has the cap on the number of passengers that the airline has grown at the airport. In this case, their distribution by route is proportional to the contribution of the airline to the growth of each route.

Additionally, for each airline, the number of passengers considered at route level will not be higher than its growth in the network of Aena S.M.E., S.A and AIRM. In this case, the distribution per route will be proportional to the passengers referred to in the previous paragraph.

To calculate the incentive, the number of passengers eligible for the incentive is rounded to the nearest whole number.

The update of the incentive consists of adding to the previous incentive, and applicable during 2025 and 2026 seasons compared to its equivalent 2023 season, an additional refund of a 100% of the average airport security charge and PRM charge in those airports with less than 3 million annual passengers that have not recovered the passenger's traffic figures of 2019 (cumulative data as of August 2024, please refer to Annex II). It applies to the number of passengers eligible for the incentive described above. The growth must be on routes that do not overlap with routes operated by another airline in the same season.

For the purpose of this incentive, a route is defined as the set of commercial¹ passenger air transport operations, departing from an Aena, S.M.E., S.A airport and destined to another airport. It will be considered as the same route to the same destination, the one that even when operated to different airports, these are part of the same catchment area (Annex III).

Furthermore, airlines must request the incentive through the incentive application form, available on the Aena website, at the beginning of each season and before the following months end:

- October 2025 for the summer season 2025 (from April 2025 to October 2025)
- October 2026 for the summer season 2026 (from April 2026 to October 2026)
- March 2026 for the winter season 2025 (from November 2025 to March 2026)
- March 2027 for the winter season 2026 (from November 2026 to March 2027)

Aena S.M.E., S.A. will communicate whether the airline is eligible for the incentive in December for the summer seasons and in May of the following year for the winter seasons.

S.A. reserves the right to reduce the amount corresponding to the incentive. This will be made in proportion to the impact of the activity transfer carried out or to treat such companies as a single airline.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to refuse to apply the incentive if during the revision of the data and documents provided by companies that have applied to it, it emerges that the application or any information or documentation provided is affected by errors, misleading information, omissions, or any type of inaccuracy.

V. Incentive for contribution to passenger growth on routes operated from airports with less than 3,5 million annual passengers

Airlines shall be entitled to the incentives explained under this heading. The incentives are applicable in the Summer and Winter seasons of 2026, Summer and Winter 2027 and Summer and Winter 2028. Seasons are defined in article 72.16 of Law 21/2003 of 7th July on Air Safety and they are considered independently.

The incentive is for contributing to the growth in the number of passengers on routes operated from airports in the network with less than 3.5 million passengers annually in 2025 (Annex I). It applies to the summer and winter seasons of 2026, 2027, and 2028 and it will be compared with the equivalent previous season. Additional passengers can benefit from discounts during three consecutive seasons, provided that the following requirements are met.

The incentive will be calculated as an amount equivalent to 100% of the average departure passenger charge, security charge and PMR charge of the airline per route (with two decimal places). The incentives shall apply exclusively to the number of additional departure passengers on the route concerned compared to the equivalent previous season that the airline carried at each airport of the Aena S.M.E., S.A's network and Murcia Region International Airport (AIRM).

The incentive will be proportional to the contribution to the growth generated in that route by each of the airlines operating it.

In all the above, the number of passengers considered for the incentive of each airline will have the cap on the number of passengers that the airline has grown at the airport. In this case, their distribution by route will be proportional to the contribution of the airline to the growth of each route.

Additionally, for each airline, the number of passengers considered at route level will not be higher than its growth in the network of Aena S.M.E., S.A and AIRM. In this case, the distribution per route will be proportional to the passengers referred to in the previous paragraph.

To calculate the incentive, the number of passengers eligible for the incentive shall be rounded to the nearest whole number.

At La Palma Airport, while the extraordinary commercial incentive remains in force, a 100% discount will be applied to the average amount of the airport security charge and the PRM charge on routes that are not inter-island Canary Islands routes, calculated for the airline on the route (to two decimal places). In this case, the 100% discount on the average amount of the departure passenger charge is not included.

For the purposes of this incentive, a route is defined as the set of commercial passenger air transport operations, departing from an Aena, S.M.E., S.A airport and destined to another airport. It will be considered as the same route to the same destination, the one that even when operated to different airports, these are part of the same catchment area (Annex II).

To be considered an operated route for the season the route to a specific destination must exceed 1000 departing commercial passengers in the winter season and 1500 in the summer season.

Once the airline has obtained the right to the incentive for having additional passengers on a route compared with the equivalent season of the previous year (considered the 'reference season'), it may continue to receive this discount if it maintains or increases the number of passengers on that route during the two subsequent equivalent seasons. The incentive will always be calculated in relation to this reference season and will only be applied to the additional passengers the airline has added during those periods (see Example 3 in Annex III).

If, in the subsequent equivalent season, the airline reduces the number of incentivised passengers on the corresponding route to a level below that which originally granted the right to receive the incentive, the right to receive it will be lost, and no incentive will be generated either in that season or in the immediately following one (see Example 2 in Annex III).

The discount to be applied to eligible passengers, for the two following seasons, will be 100% of the average departure passenger charge, security charge and PMR charge of the airline per route, based on the current price guide and calculated to two decimal places.

Additional passengers added during the summer 2028 and winter 2028 seasons will have generated the right to receive the incentive in the following two seasons (summer and winter 2029, as well as summer and winter 2030), provided that the previously established requirements are met.

In order to illustrate the application of the incentive, some examples are provided (Annex III).

Furthermore, airlines must request the incentive through the incentive application form, available on the Aena website, at the beginning of each season and before the following months end:

- o March 2027 for the winter season 2026 (from November 2026 to March 2027)
- o March 2028 for the winter season 2027 (from November 2027 to March 2028)
- o March 2029 for the winter season 2028 (from November 2028 to March 2029)
- o October 2026 for the summer season 2026 (from April 2026 to October 2026)
- o October 2027 for the summer season 2027 (from April 2027 to October 2027)
- o October 2028 for the summer season 2028 (from April 2028 to October 2028)

<<https://www.aena.es/en/airlines/incentives-and-marketing-support/incentives.html>>

Aena S.M.E., S.A. will communicate whether the airline is eligible for the incentive in December for the summer seasons and in May of the following year for the winter seasons.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. shall compensate the corresponding amount with any amounts owed by the beneficiaries. If it is not possible in whole or in part, it will be paid in cash.

This commercial incentive will coexist during the summer and winter seasons of 2026 with the current program called 'Incentive for airports with less than 3 million passengers.' During this period, the airline will be entitled to receive only the incentive that is most favourable to it under the two schemes.

Starting from the summer and winter seasons of 2026, if airlines meet the criteria established in the two subsequent equivalent seasons (summer and winter 2027, summer and winter 2028), the incentive will be granted to the additional passengers who were entitled to it during the summer or winter 2026 season, even if the incentive applied to the airline during those seasons had been approved in 2024, as it is the most beneficial for the airline.

To benefit from the incentive, the Financial Directorate must issue a favourable report based on the overall situation of the company's account with Aena, its risk coverage, and the regular compliance with its payment system.

The airline will not be entitled to the incentive if, with the intention of benefiting from it or influencing its amount, the company had been the recipient of the assignment or transfer of operations between itself and companies within the same group or with other companies with which it may share its program or align strategies.

If the situations described above arise as a result of purely operational aspects of the activity of companies within the same group that may share their program, or mergers, acquisitions, or changes in ownership of airlines that could affect the outcome of this incentive, Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to reduce the amount corresponding to the incentive. This will be made in proportion to the impact of the activity transfer carried out or to treat such companies as a single airline.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to refuse to apply the incentive if during the revision of the data and documents provided by companies that have applied to it, it emerges that the application or any information or documentation provided is affected by errors, misleading information, omissions, or any type of inaccuracy.

VI. Modification of the route growth incentive at airports with less than 3 million passengers, consisting of raising the threshold for the application of this incentive, from airports with less than 3 million passengers to airports with less than 3.5 million passengers

Airlines shall be entitled to the incentives explained under this heading. The incentives are applicable in the Summer and Winter seasons of 2025 and 2026. Seasons are defined in article 72.16 of Law 21/2003 of 7th July on Air Safety and they are considered independently.

The update of the incentive raises the passenger threshold at airports, from less than 3 million to less than 3.5 million in 2025 (Annex I), for routes to underserved destinations and route growth.

The objective of the incentive is to encourage passenger growth on routes operated from regional airports, and it is applicable in the summer and winter seasons of 2024, 2025, and 2026.

The incentive will be calculated as an amount equivalent to 100% of the average departure passenger charge (with two decimal figures) of the airline per route. The incentives shall apply exclusively to the number of additional departure passengers on the route concerned compared to the 2023 equivalent season that the airline carried at each airport of the Aena S.M.E., S.A 's network and Murcia Region International Airport (AIRM).

The incentive will be proportional to the contribution to the growth generated in that route by each of the airlines operating it.

In all the above, the number of passengers considered for the incentive of each airline will have the cap on the number of passengers that the airline has grown at the airport. In this case, their distribution by route will be proportional to the contribution of the airline to the growth of each route.

Additionally, for each airline, the number of passengers considered at route level will not be higher than its growth in the network of Aena S.M.E., S.A and AIRM. In this case, the distribution per route will be proportional to the passengers referred to in the previous paragraph.

To calculate the incentive, the number of passengers eligible for the incentive shall be rounded to the nearest whole number.

Furthermore, and applicable to the summer and winter seasons of 2025 and 2026 compared to its equivalent 2023 season, an additional refund of a 100% of the average airport security charge and PRM charge in those airports with less than 3 million annual passengers that have not recovered the passenger's traffic figures of 2019 (cumulative data as of August 2024, please refer to Annex II). It applies to the number of passengers eligible for the incentive described above. The growth must be on routes that do not overlap with routes operated by another airline in the same season.

For the purpose of this incentive, a route is defined as the set of commercial passenger air transport operations, departing from an Aena, S.M.E., S.A airport and destined to another airport. It will be considered as the same route to the same destination, the one that even when operated to different airports, these are part of the same catchment area (Annex II).

Furthermore, airlines must request the incentive through the incentive application form, available on the Aena website, at the beginning of each season and before the following months end:

- o October 2025 for the summer season 2025 (from April 2025 to October 2025)
- o October 2026 for the summer season 2026 (from April 2026 to October 2026)

To be considered an operated route for the season the route to a specific destination must exceed 1000 departing commercial passengers in the winter season and 1500 in the summer season.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. will communicate whether the airline is eligible for the incentive in December for the summer seasons and in May of the following year for the winter seasons.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. shall compensate the corresponding amount with any amounts owed by the beneficiaries. If it is not possible in whole or in part, it will be paid in cash.

To benefit from the incentive, the Financial Directorate must issue a favourable report based on the overall situation of the company's account with Aena, its risk coverage, and the regular compliance with its payment system.

The airline will not be entitled to the incentive if, with the intention of benefiting from it or influencing its amount, the company had been the recipient of the assignment or transfer of operations between itself and companies within the same group or with other companies with which it may share its program or align strategies.

If the situations described above arise as a result of purely operational aspects of the activity of companies within the same group that may share their program, or mergers, acquisitions, or changes in ownership of airlines that could affect the outcome of this incentive, Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to reduce the amount corresponding to the incentive. This will be made in proportion to the impact of the activity transfer carried out or to treat such companies as a single airline.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to refuse to apply the incentive if during the revision of the data and documents provided by companies that have applied to it, it emerges that the application or any information or documentation provided is affected by errors, misleading information, omissions, or any type of inaccuracy.

VII. Commercial incentive for new routes to destinations not served at airports with more than 3 million passengers 2024-2025-2026

Airlines shall be entitled to the incentives explained under this heading. The incentives are applicable in the Summer and Winter seasons of 2024, Summer and Winter 2025 and Summer and Winter 2026. Seasons are defined in article 72.16¹ of Law 21/2003 of 7th July on Air Safety and they are considered independently.

The incentive is for the launch of routes to new destinations for the airport, from airports in the network with more than 3 million annual passengers in 2023 (Annex I), applicable in the summer and winter seasons of 2024, 2025, and 2026, except for routes with Asia as the destination (Annex II)

The incentive will be calculated as an amount equivalent to 100% of the average departure passenger charge (with two decimal figures) of the airline per route. The incentives shall apply exclusively to the number of additional departure passengers on the route concerned compared to the previous equivalent season that the airline carried at each airport of the Aena S.M.E., S.A 's network.

¹ Season: Summer season is considered as months between April to October and Winter season as months between November to March.

The incentive will be proportional to the contribution to the growth generated in that route by each of the airlines operating it.

In all the above, the number of passengers considered for the incentive of each airline will have the cap on the number of passengers that the airline has grown at the airport. In this case, their distribution by route will be proportional to the contribution of the airline to the growth of each route.

Additionally, for each airline, the number of passengers considered at route level will not be higher than its growth in the network of Aena S.M.E., S.A and AIRM. In this case, the distribution per route will be proportional to the passengers referred to in the previous paragraph.

To calculate the incentive, the number of passengers eligible for the incentive shall be rounded to the nearest whole number.

For the purpose of this incentive, a route is defined as the set of commercial¹ passenger air transport operations, departing from an Aena, S.M.E., S.A airport and destined to another airport. It will be considered as the same route to the same destination, the one that even when operated to different airports, these are part of the same catchment area (Annex III).

Furthermore, airlines must request the incentive through the incentive application form, available on the Aena website, at the beginning of each season and before the following months end:

- October 2024 for the summer season 2024 (from April 2024 to October 2024)
- October 2025 for the summer season 2025 (from April 2025 to October 2025)
- October 2026 for the summer season 2026 (from April 2026 to October 2026)
- March 2025 for the winter season 2024 (from November 2024 to March 2025)
- March 2026 for the winter season 2025 (from November 2025 to March 2026)
- March 2027 for the winter season 2026 (from November 2026 to March 2027)

<<https://www.aena.es/en/airlines/incentives-and-marketing-support/incentives.html>>

For the purpose of this incentive, it is considered that a route to a destination has not been operated in the previous equivalent season if it did not exceed 1000 departing passengers in the winter season or 1500 in the summer season.

To be considered an operated route for the season the route to a specific destination must exceed 1000 departing passengers in the winter season and 1500 in the summer season.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. will communicate whether the airline is eligible for the incentive in December for the summer seasons and in May of the following year for the winter seasons.

Aena, S.M.E., S.A. shall compensate the corresponding amount with any amounts owed by the beneficiaries. If it is not possible in whole or in part, it will be paid in cash.

To benefit from the incentive, the Financial Directorate must issue a favourable report based on the overall situation of the company's account with Aena, its risk coverage, and the regular compliance with its payment system.

The airline will not be entitled to the incentive if, with the intention of benefiting from it or influencing its amount, the company had been the recipient of the assignment or transfer of operations between itself and companies within the same group or with other companies with which it may share its program or align strategies.

If the situations described above arise as a result of purely operational aspects of the activity of companies within the same group that may share their program, or mergers, acquisitions, or changes in ownership of airlines that could affect the outcome of this incentive, Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to reduce the amount corresponding to the incentive. This will be made in proportion to the impact of the activity transfer carried out or to treat such companies as a single airline.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to refuse to apply the incentive if during the revision of the data and documents provided by companies that have applied to it, it emerges that the application or any information or documentation provided is affected by errors, misleading information, omissions or any type of inaccuracy.

VIII. Modification of the new routes incentive at airports with more than 3 million passengers, consisting of raising the threshold for the application of this incentive, from airports with more than 3 million passengers to airports with more than 3.5 million passengers

Airlines shall be entitled to the incentives explained under this heading. The incentive is applicable in the Summer and Winter seasons of 2024, 2025 and 2026 and the updated incentive for airports that have not recovered 2019 passenger traffic levels is applicable in the Summer and Winter seasons of 2025 and 2026. Seasons are defined in article 72.16 of Law 21/2003 of 7th July on Air Safety and they are considered independently.

The update of the incentive raises the passenger threshold at airports, increasing it from more than 3 million to more than 3.5 million in 2025 (Annex I).

The incentive is for the launch of routes to new destinations for the airport, from airports in the network with more than 3.5 million annual passengers in 2025 (Annex I), applicable in the summer and winter seasons of 2024, 2025, and 2026, except for routes to Asia (Annex II).

The incentive is calculated as an amount equivalent to 100% of the average departure passenger charge (with two decimal figures) of the airline per route. The incentives apply exclusively to the number of additional departure passengers on the route concerned compared to the 2023 equivalent season that the airline carried at each airport of the Aena S.M.E., S.A's network and Murcia Region International Airport (AIRM).

The incentive is proportional to the contribution to the growth generated in that route by each of the airlines operating it.

In all the above, the number of passengers considered for the incentive of each airline has the cap on the number of passengers that the airline has grown at the airport. In this case, their distribution by route is proportional to the contribution of the airline to the growth of each route.

Additionally, for each airline, the number of passengers considered at route level will not be higher than its growth in the network of Aena S.M.E., S.A and AIRM. In this case, the distribution per route will be proportional to the passengers referred to in the previous paragraph.

For the purpose of this incentive, a route is defined as the set of commercial passenger air transport operations, departing from an Aena, S.M.E., S.A airport and destined to another airport. It will be considered as the same route to the same destination, the one that even when operated to different airports, these are part of the same catchment area (Annex III).

Furthermore, airlines must request the incentive through the incentive application form, available on the Aena website, at the beginning of each season and before the following months end:

- o October 2024 for the summer season 2024 (from April 2024 to October 2024)
- o October 2025 for the summer season 2025 (from April 2025 to October 2025)
- o October 2026 for the summer season 2026 (from April 2026 to October 2026)
- o March 2025 for the winter season 2024 (from November 2024 to March 2025)
- o March 2026 for the winter season 2025 (from November 2025 to March 2026)
- o March 2027 for the winter season 2026 (from November 2026 to March 2027)

<<https://www.aena.es/en/airlines/incentives-and-marketing-support/incentives.html>>

For the purpose of this incentive, it is considered that a route to a destination has not been operated in the previous equivalent season if it did not exceed 1000 departing passengers in the winter season or 1500 in the summer season.

To be considered an operated route for the season the route to a specific destination must exceed 1000 departing passengers in the winter season and 1500 in the summer season.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. will communicate whether the airline is eligible for the incentive in December for the summer seasons and in May of the following year for the winter seasons. This will be made in proportion to the impact of the activity transfer carried out or to treat such companies as a single airline.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to refuse to apply the incentive if during the revision of the data and documents provided by companies that have applied to it, it emerges that the application or any information or documentation provided is affected by errors, misleading information, omissions or any type of inaccuracy.

Airlines shall be entitled to the incentives explained under this heading. The incentives are applicable in the Summer and Winter seasons of 2024, Summer and Winter 2025 and Summer and Winter 2026. Seasons are defined in article 72.16¹ of Law 21/2003 of 7th July on Air Safety and they are considered independently.

The incentive is for contributing to the growth in the number of passengers on routes to Asia (Annex I) operated from all airports in the network, applicable in the summer and winter seasons of 2024, 2025, and 2026.

The incentive will be calculated as an amount equivalent to 100% of the average departure passenger charge (with two decimal figures) of the airline per route. The incentives shall apply exclusively to the number of additional departure passengers on the route concerned compared to the previous equivalent season that the airline carried at each airport of the Aena S.M.E., S.A 's network.

The incentive will be proportional to the contribution to the growth generated in that route by each of the airlines operating it.

For the purpose of this incentive, a route is defined as the set of commercial² passenger air transport operations, departing from an Aena, S.M.E., S.A, airport and destined to an Asian airport.

¹ Season: Summer season is considered as months between April to October and Winter season as months between November to March.

X. Incentive scheme for helicopter regular commercial operations that originate in the heliports of Ceuta and Algeciras during the Summer and Winter seasons 2024, 2025 and 2026.

Companies shall be entitled to an incentive for maintaining the number of passengers carried on routes operated from the heliports of Algeciras and Ceuta.

This incentive scheme shall apply in summer and winter 2024, in summer and winter 2025, in summer and winter 2026 seasons, defined in the law 21/2003 and they will be considered independently.

The incentive shall be calculated at an amount equivalent to 50% of the average departure passenger charge and security charge of the company on the route and it will apply to the total number of commercial departure passengers on the route, only if at least 75% of the departure passengers carried on the route in the previous equivalent season are maintained.

In addition, to qualify for the incentive, the company must maintain at the relevant heliport at least 75% of passengers registered in the previous equivalent season.

For the purposes of this incentive, a route (combined commercial passenger transport operations from the Heliport of Ceuta or Algeciras and destination at another airport or heliport) to a destination shall be considered to have been operated if it exceeds, 750 departing commercial passengers during the summer season and 500 departing commercial passengers during the winter season.

This incentive shall not be cumulative with any other incentive in force at the time of its application.

Furthermore, airlines must request the incentive through the incentive application form, available on the Aena website, at the beginning of each season and before the following months end:

- October 2024 for the summer season 2024 (from April 2024 to October 2024)
- October 2025 for the summer season 2025 (from April 2025 to October 2025)
- October 2026 for the summer season 2026 (from April 2026 to October 2026)

- March 2026 for the winter season 2025 (from November 2025 to March 2026)
- March 2027 for the winter season 2026 (from November 2026 to March 2027)

<<https://www.aena.es/en/airlines/incentives-and-marketing-support/incentives.html>>

Aena S.M.E., S.A. will communicate whether the airline is eligible for the incentive in December for the summer seasons and in May of the following year for the winter seasons.

The corresponding amount resulting from the application of this incentive will be offset by Aena S.M.E., S.A. against any amounts owed by the beneficiaries. If it is not possible in whole or in part, it will be paid in cash.

To benefit from the incentive, the Financial Directorate must issue a favourable report based on the overall situation of the company's account with Aena, its risk coverage, and the regular compliance with its payment system.

The airline will not be entitled to the incentive if, with the intention of benefiting from it or influencing its amount, the company had been the recipient of the assignment or transfer of operations between itself and companies within the same group or with other companies with which it may share its program or align strategies.

If the situations described above arise as a result of purely operational aspects of the activity of companies within the same group that may share their program, or mergers, acquisitions, or changes in ownership of airlines that could affect the outcome of this incentive, Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to reduce the amount corresponding to the incentive. This will be made in proportion to the impact of the activity transfer carried out or to treat such companies as a single airline.

Aena S.M.E., S.A. reserves the right to refuse to apply the incentive if during the revision of the data and documents provided by companies that have applied to it, it emerges that the application or any information or documentation provided is affected by errors, misleading information, omissions, or any type of inaccuracy.

XI. Commercial incentive for operational growth of airlines operating widebody cargo aircraft

Airline companies operating widebody cargo aircraft¹ will be entitled to the incentive explained in this section, applicable for additional annual operations, from March 1, 2024, to February 28, 2027.

The incentive will consist of a refund on the average landing fare of each airline, applicable to the additional annual arrival operations, from 1 March, 2024, to 28 February, 2027, operated using widebody cargo aircraft from any airport in the Aena SME, SA network and at the International Airport in the Murcia Region (AIRM).

For each company, if the sum of operations operated with widebody cargo aircraft during the twelve-month period considered is greater than the sum of operations operated with widebody cargo aircraft in the previous twelve-month period at all the airports in the Aena SME, SA network, and at the International Airport in the Murcia Region (AIRM), it will be entitled to receive the incentive, for three consecutive periods as follows:

- First period (March 1, 2024 – February 28, 2025): The amount of the incentive is an amount equal to the number of additional widebody arrival operations for each airline, multiplied by 75% of the average landing fee for each eligible airline.

Once entitlement to the incentive has been acquired, if the company maintains or exceeds the number of operations in the second and third periods, the average landing fee in each of these two periods will be subsidised by 50% (second period) and 25% (third period). If the number of operations is not maintained with respect to the immediately preceding period, the airline will lose the right to continue receiving the incentive.

The additional operations run in period 1 with respect to period 0 are taken as the base reference for quantifying the amount of the incentive in periods 2 and 3.

- Second period (March 1, 2025 - February 28, 2026): The amount of the incentive is an amount equal to the number of additional widebody arrival operations for each airline, multiplied by 75% of the average landing fee for each eligible airline.

Once the right to the incentive has been acquired, if the airline maintains or exceeds the number of operations in the third and fourth periods, the average landing rate in each of these two periods will be subsidised by 50% (third period) and 25% (fourth period). If the number of operations is not maintained with respect to the immediately preceding period, the airline will lose the right to continue receiving the incentive.

The additional operations run in period 2 with respect to period 1 are taken as a base reference for quantifying the amount of the incentive in periods 3 and 4.

- Third period (March 1, 2026 - February 28, 2027): The amount of the incentive is an amount equal to the number of additional widebody arrival operations of each airline multiplied by 75% of the average landing fee of each eligible airline.

Once entitlement to the incentive has been acquired, if the airline maintains or exceeds the number of operations in the fourth and fifth periods, the average landing fee in each of these two periods will be reimbursed by 50% (fourth period) and 25% (fifth period). If the number of operations is not maintained with respect to the immediately preceding period, the airline will lose the right to continue receiving the incentive.

¹ Aircraft with a maximum take-off weight of more than 191 tonnes will be considered widebody aircraft.

The additional operations run in period 3 with respect to period 2 are taken as a base reference for quantifying the amount of the incentive in periods 4 and 5.

Periods 4 and 5 are those between March 1, 2027 and February 29, 2028, and between March 1, 2028 and February 28, 2029, respectively.

For the purpose of calculating this incentive, the average landing fee for the corresponding period is the sum of the amount invoiced for the landing fee for widebody cargo aircraft, divided by the total number of arrival operations run using widebody cargo aircraft.

To access this incentive, the airline must equal or exceed 12 widebody arrival operations per period and the type of service must be one of the following: A – Regular additional cargo aircraft, F – Regular cargo aircraft, H – Charter cargo aircraft.

New frequencies at JT Barcelona - El Prat airport during congested slots, which are from 17:00 to 22:59 hours (LT), will not be taken into account when applying the incentive. The congested slots may, where appropriate, be revised annually by Aena before the start of each period (1 March, 2025, and 1 March, 2026).

In addition, airlines must apply for the incentive through the incentive application form, available on the Aena website, before the end of each period.

- Period 1 (March 2024 to February 2025): from March 1, 2024 to February 28, 2025.
- Period 2 (March 2025 to February 2026): from March 1, 2025 to February 28, 2026.
- Period 3 (March 2026 to February 2027): from March 1, 2026 to February 28, 2027.

Aena SME, SA will communicate whether the airline is entitled to the incentive in the following May for each period defined in this section, and will detail the amount for each of the corresponding periods.

The corresponding amount resulting from the application of this incentive will be offset by Aena SME, SA against any amounts owed by the beneficiaries, this not being possible, in whole or in part, by means of a cash payment.

In order to receive this incentive, the Finance Department must issue a favourable report based on the overall status of the company's account with Aena, its risk cover and the usual compliance with its payment system.

The airline will not be entitled to the incentive if, for the purpose of benefiting from the incentive or having an effect on the incentive amount, the airline is the recipient of an assignment or transfer of operations between itself and airlines in the same group or with other airlines with which it could share its programme or align strategies.

In any case, if the aforementioned situations arise as a result of purely operational aspects of the activity of companies within the same group that may share their programme, or in the event of mergers, acquisitions or any other modification of ownership of airlines that could affect the result of this incentive, Aena SME, SA reserves the right to reduce the amount corresponding to the incentive in proportion to the effect of the transfer of activity carried out or to treat these companies as a single airline.

If the review carried out by Aena SME, SA of all the documentation and data provided by each company applying for the incentive shows that the application, as well as any information or documentation provided is false, erroneous, incomplete or inaccurate in any way, Aena SME, SA reserves the right to refuse the incentive, without prejudice to any other responsibilities that may apply.
